SENATE CALLS ON PRESIDENT TO RECONSIDER '28

Tells Him He May Be Drafted.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

SEN. S. D. AUG. 10.—[Special.]—Senator Simon D. Pess of Ohio, who has been mentioned as a possible presidential candidate with administrative sympathy, pleaded with the President today not to take an irrevocable stand against accepting the Republican nomination next year.

"If they can't get along without me, what will they say four years from now?" the President replied, according to Senator Pess.

Mr. Coolidge reiterated his thought expressed Monday, that "this is not a man's country," and gave Senator Pess the impression that he wanted to be relieved of the burdens of the day.

"Don't Echo That Sentiment," the President replied, according to Senator Pess.

Whatever the attitude of the President, Ohio will instruct her delegation for Coolidge or nobody, the senator said.

TALKS ON PATRIOTISM

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Base of Rushmore Mountain, via flight, S. D. Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The withdrawal of the Black Hills, where Calvin Coolidge reached the decision to withstand the temptations of another term in the White House, the President today delivered an address on the "Spirit of Patriotism" at the opening of the work on the Rushmore Mountain National Memorial.

Hold Ceremony Out of Doors.
The ceremony was out of doors and was conducted in by Senator Peter Norbeck, chairman of the day; Senator William H. McFadden, Connecticut; Senator William Robinson, Judge C. J. Hughes, Dr. Deane Robinson, historian of the state capital, who first conceived the memorial, and Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, who is to carve the great new faces of four Presidents on this mountain wall.

During the ceremony Russell H. Taylor, world war aviator, flew over the mountain and dropped a wreath bearing the name of "Washington." Later Mr. Borglum went up the 1,400 foot mountain to the mountain top, was seen to the face of the cliff and began the work of outlining the face of the first President for future generations to gaze upon from the plains.

Picture of Hope Fulfilled.

"The union of these four Presidents carved on the face of the everlasting granite of South Dakota will constitute a monument to the future of our country," said Mr. Coolidge in his address.

"It will be a picture of hope fulfilled," he said, "in its conception, in its magnitude, in its meaning, and altogether a picture of our country."

"In the heart of the continent, on the side of a mountain, which probably no white man had ever before seen in the days of Washington, in history which was acquired by the blood of Jefferson, which remained unbroken wilderness before the days of Lincoln, which was the birthplace of the future, the picture of the future will see history and combined to portray the spirit of our nation."

"They will know that the figure of our Presidents has been placed here for the eternity. The fundamental principle which they represented has been brought into the very being of our country. They are steadfast and ancient hills."

Analysis American Spirit.
Analyzing the spirit which has animated America and such great men as she has produced, the President said:

"The American spirit is to maintain a free spirit. It will be because we continue to study the lives and words of the great men who have been leaders in our history, and continue to support the principles which they represented. We cannot hold them in admiration for the historic figures which we shall see here without growing stronger in our determination to maintain the institutions which their lives and words have established."

SPECIAL BOARD WILL SPEED UP ROAD WIDENING

County Acts to End Delays on Work.

The county board yesterday decided the time had arrived to start highway widening under the $15,000,000 bond issue program voted last November. Ending the long and apparently hopeless wrangling with a group of contractors over paving costs, the board ordered that revised estimates be prepared by the county highway department and that contractors be asked to submit new bids on thirteen projects by Aug. 22. It was rumored the county highway department estimates might be raised 10 per cent.

The recent deadlocks, due to preferences of individual commissions as to the order in which the road widening projects should be undertaken, may be broken by the decision of President A. J. Cermak to appoint a citizens' advisory committee to submit a consecutive program for widening work.

The advisory committee will be named by the end of this week, Mr. Cermak stated, and when functioning, its recommendations will be put up to the county board for official action.

Hayes May Lead Advisers.
It is probable that Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, will be named as chairman, and the membership will be representative of the geography of the county.

At the county board meeting yesterday resolutions, adopted by the Chicago Motor club's directors a few hours before, were read. The resolutions instructed Mr. Hayes to confer with President Cermak as to why widening operations were delayed.

"The county has been in possession of the funds required for road widening for some time, and the public has grown impatient at the failure of the board to start work," Mr. Hayes told the commissioners. "While it is realized that the attempts of the contractors' combination to jump their prices 20 or 25 per cent, because of the large amount of work in sight, it also is realized that the board reasonably can go outside Cook county for bidders who will guarantee to use union labor and who will do the work at a fair price."

Must Find Solution.
"If that is not the solution another can be found. Meanwhile the narrow roads of Cook county continue to cause loss of life and damage to property. We believe we have waited long enough and now want action. I feel certain that the plan of Mr. Cermak to advise with a citizens' committee on the execution of road widening will bring the desired result."

At this suggestion, however, Commissioner John Gibson jumped to his feet and shouted:

"Are we not elected as commissioners to take the responsibility for this work?"

"I, for one, am willing to share the responsibility with a reputable citizens' committee," Mr. Cermak replied, "especially in a case where it looks as if a group of contractors had acted together to boost paving prices, because we have $15,000,000 to spend for road building."

"If union labor and the contractors say that your ideas of costs are wrong, do you still say they are right?" Mr. Gibson asked.

"I do if our highway department says they are right. I have seen the same contractors that bid fair prices for state work in the county bid 20 per cent higher on county work right alongside."

Won't O. K. Higher Bids.
"I will not ever vote for the acceptance of bids that are way out of proportion with the bids by the same companies for similar work on state projects in the county."

Reports were called for from the committee of highway engineers who had been instructed to analyze the bids received two weeks ago on 13 projects involving a total cost of about $1,750,000. Maj. George A. Quinn, county superintendent of highways, replied that the committee was not ready to make a definite report.

Commissioner Gibson insisted that the individuals on the committee be questioned as to their conclusions on the fairness of the county highway department estimates. He wanted the board to order new highway department estimates to accord with that committee's views.

The poll of the committee disclosed that the opinion of five engineers that the county estimates were 4 to 15 per cent low.

Assistant Engineer Miller of the state highway department told the board certain contractors, among the acceptable bidders for county work, are building state roads within the county with mountain labor.

BOY, 17, BATTERS 2 BANDITS WITH TIN CAN BARRAGE

Two bruised and battered bandits last night were probably questioning the merits of a life of crime. They had held up the basement delicatessen of Kenny & Meyers, at 4500 North Racine avenue, getting $4.20 from the till and a dozen or so cans of assorted vegetables hurled at them by Thomas Murray, 17 year old nephew of one of the owners.

Murray was alone in the store when the two men entered. They produced revolvers and while one of them covered the youth the other took the money from the cash register. Murray decided to protest. He dived at the bandits and the three rolled on the floor. One of the men fired his weapon twice, but the gun was apparently jammed with blanks.

Finally the robbers broke away and jumped into their automobile outside the store. They had trouble in starting the motor, so Murray loaded his arms with cans of tomatoes and caught up bottles and stood on the sidewalk hurling them at the robbers until they drove away. A crowd saw the battle, but did not interfere.

Driving While Intoxicated

Vincent S. Workman, prohibition agent assigned to the Chicago office, was arrested in Joliet yesterday on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated. Workman was detained in Joliet guarding a recently seized brewery. He was arrested in a saloon owned by Joseph Seena, after arguing with Joliet police officers that they could not arrest him.

De Valera Will Take Oath to English King

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Eamon de Valera's party, Flannas Fall, tonight decided its forty-five members, who have been elected deputies, shall take the oath of allegiance to the British crown and assume their seats in the Dail on Friday. De Valera himself joined in the unanimous decision.

The Free State senate today passed President Cosgrave's public safety bill, already approved by the Dail, and the measure now needs only the assent of the governor general to become law. It was drawn immediately after the assassination of Kevin O'Higgins and gives the government emergency powers to combat uprisings and makes the possession of firearms without permit punishable by death.

Entrance of DeValera and his party into the Dail may lead to a coalition government. The forty-five Flannas Fall deputies will be the largest unit next to the government party, which has forty-six with the speaker. The other members being as follows: Labor, 22; Independent Republican, 14; Farmer, 11; National League, 8; Sinn Fein, 5; Independent, 2. Total membership of the Dail is 153.

J. OGDEN ARMOUR, ILL WITH FEVER,
FAILS TO RALLY

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, Aug. 10.—Today's report from the London branch of the Armour company concerning the condition of J. Ogden Armour, who is ill with typhoid fever at the Carlton hotel, remains not optimistic.

The Chicago packer's condition remains stationary. His temperature is high some days and low on others. He is able to take some nourishment, but is too weak to see anybody except his father, Joseph Schuchert, is expected to arrive here this morning, following his request for his arrest.

Meanwhile Sophie, unshaken by her sojourn in the detention home, says she is all for her uncle, and if the judge consults her she will ask him to let her remain.

Hoboes Must Quit Lake Front Beds; 54 Arrested

Chicago's hoboes, who for many summers past have slept undisturbed on newspapers in Grant park along Michigan avenue, last night were moving on in search of a more peaceful resting place. Chief Hughes decided yesterday that the city's front yard ought to be cleared of loafers and ordered a general roundup by detective bureau squads. Fifty-four hoboes were arrested, 24 were ordered to leave town and ten were given short Bridewell sentences.

Stops to Put Air in Tires and Is Robbed of Auto

A. H. Pabst, 4520 North Francisco avenue, secretary and treasurer of the Northwestern Expanded Metal company, was robbed of his new automobile at a filling station at Montrose and Francisco avenues last night. He had stopped to the station to fill his tank with air when a man covered him with a gun and ordered him to get into his car. He was slow about obeying and the gunman hopped to the wheel and sped away.

Cops Muzzle Chicago Reds and All's Well

Sacco and Vanzetti sympathizers were ready to do a lot of talking here last night, but the police wouldn't let them do that, and they went home early, some remarking that their influence had brought about the respite of the two condemned men from the electric chair in Massachusetts.

In a dozen or more places radicals congregated or attempted to congregate, but only for the purpose of conversation. Deputy Chief of Police Alcock was ready for any emergency—riots, bombs, fires, anything, but all his men had to contend with was noise.

Alarms Felt Unfounded.
A few alarms were received, but all were due to imagination. A bomb was reported found in the basement of the Florsheim shoe factory and office building at 541 West Adams street. It was an electric meter. A rat chewing on an old board sounded like the ticking of an internal machine down in the Illinois tunnel, and twenty police made a five mile tour of inspection, sixty feet underground.

The finding of real bomb in the west side sub-postoffice on Tuesday, and the parade led by Aurora d'Angelo Tuesday evening had spurred the police to preparedness. Chief Michael Hughes had mapped out a program of protection if the Sacco-Vanzetti enthusiasts became unruly. The entire police force was mobilized and assigned.

Public Buildings Guarded.
Banks and public buildings like the Board of Trade, Art Institute, and Field museum were given special guards. The federal building was exceptionally well guarded.

The home of Vice President Charles Daves in Evanston was also under guard. Three Evanston policemen kept watch over it all day and all night.

The active leaders of the Sacco-Vanzetti defense organization—those who collected the money in the names of the two condemned men—were under surveillance by Lieut. Make Mills and his bomb and anarchist squad. The police were ready to meet violence, but there was none. The police force was mobilized and had a quieting influence.

Two Orators Arrested.
Vito Galassi, 330 South Hermitage avenue, and Paul Decatol, 718 South Dearborn avenue, were passing out literature headed, "Sacco and Vanzetti Must Not Die," at Taylor and Shibley streets. They weren't bothered until they drew a crowd and started making speeches. Then they were taken to the Maxwell street station.

Lieut. Stewart P. Moss, touring the west side, came on a soap box orator and a crowd in Vernon park, Shibley and Gilpin streets. Two hundred men, women and children departed without much protest at the command of Lieut. Moss.

In Washington square, Clark and Chestnut streets, a favorite gathering spot for the down and outer and the communist, Minnie Loris and John Loughman, who aspire to the throne of hobodom, were bidding their addressees to be quiet and orderly so they wouldn't be chased. But they were Lieut. George Demar told the folks to go home and take care of their kids and if they didn't have any to go home anyway. They went.

His Speech Still Unfettered.
George Maurer, 4415 Beacon street, secretary of the Sacco-Vanzetti defense fund, tried to make a speech at Rockwell and Division streets. Sergeants Ole Olson and Charles Belter wouldn't let him. Maurer promised to behave after they had taken him to the station, so they released him.

ROUT ISADORA
AND YANK REDS
FROM EMBASSY

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
PARIS, Aug. 10.—The flame of revolt spread through the American sector of the Latin quarter tonight, but when the time came for action Isadora Duncan, dancer, queen of the reds, was able to lead a mere fifty Americans in a march to the American embassy.

Waving a manifesto announcing that they were not league with those who ordered the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti, the Americans, with Isadora at their head, stormed the embassy in the Rue de Chaillot and tried to nail their declaration of principles to the door.

But the French police with drawn clubs met the charge, and routed the crowd. Whereupon two of the hottest heads exhorted the column to march upon the Continental hotel, routing Judge Jacob H. Hopkins of the Cook county Superior court, Chicago, from his bed and give the representative of American justice a full impression of the radical sentiments.

But Isadora, in sandals and shawl said: "It is too late now. Let the poor fellow sleep."

Then Isadora led her troops back to the Latin quarter on foot.

RESPITE GIVEN SO SUPREME COURT MAY ACT

Vanzetti, Madeiros Also Win Time.

How the Case Stands

Gov. Fuller of Massachusetts, who last week denied clemency to the condemned men, Sacco and Vanzetti, grants them a twelve day respite to permit appeals to the courts to reach their conclusion.

Justice Holmes of the U. S. Supreme court denies the appeal for writ of habeas corpus, saying he was without power to interfere with the process of state courts.

Judge Anderson of the U. S. Circuit court likewise declined to act.

Judge Thayer, the trial jurist, has already ruled against all motions for writs.

Justice Sanderson of the Massachusetts Supreme court has denied petitions but will likely grant an appeal of the whole State Supreme court which is called to convene early next week to rule on exceptions to Sanderson's dismissal of the defendants' petition for a writ of error. The petition alleged prejudice on the trial judge's part.

It is this appeal to the State Supreme court which is all that now stands in the way of the execution.

During the day Gov. Fuller had with him for advice, besides the state council, every living ex-officio general of Massachusetts except one.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Less than an hour before they were to go to the death chamber, Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti at 11:34 o'clock tonight, received announcement from Warden William Hendry that Gov. Alvan T. Fuller had respited their sentence until midnight of Monday, Aug. 13.

Gov. Fuller, with the approval of the state executive council, stayed the execution of the two men and of Celestino Madeiros, sentenced on a separate murder charge to die at the same time, to allow a ruling on a writ of error by the State Supreme Court Judge Sanderson, which, if approved, will take the case to the full bench of the Supreme court.

Madeiros is the man who, convicted to die, made and signed a confession denying Sacco and Vanzetti were not the murderers of the South Braintree paymaster in 1920, the crime for which they were sentenced.

Governor Explains Respite.
Gov. Fuller made this public statement:

"The courts of the commonwealth are actively engaged in the work of considering and deciding the various motions and petitions filed by the counsel in these cases. The courts themselves have no power to grant a respite."

"To afford the courts an opportunity to complete the consideration of the proceedings now pending and render their decision thereon, I have recommended to the executive council that the sentences of Sacco, Vanzetti, and Madeiros be respited for twelve days, or until midnight on Monday, Aug. 22."

"The council has unanimously adopted this recommendation. Prior to its adoption it was recommended by the attorney general."

Justice Holmes Denies Writ.
With the governor's announcement there was also made public statement by United States Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes and U. S. Circuit Court Judge George W. Anderson, who denied application for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that they had no right to issue the writ unless it was shown that the court which tried the case lacked jurisdiction.

The statement of Justice Holmes follows:

"This petition was presented to me this tenth day of August, 1927, and was argued by counsel for the petitioner. I am unable to find in the petition or affidavits as I understand them any facts that would warrant my issuing the writ. I have no authority to issue it unless it appears that the court had not jurisdiction of the case in a real sense. To that no more than the form of a court is there. I cannot think that prejudice on the part of the presiding judge, however strong, would deprive the court of jurisdiction, that is, a legal power to decide the case, and in my opinion nothing short of a warrant of legal power to decide the case authorizes me to interfere in this summary way with the proceedings of the state court."

Judge Anderson's Statement:
Judge Anderson's statement said: "This petition was the 16th day of August presented to Mr. Justice Holmes and denied by him in a memorandum, a copy of which is hereto attached. I assume that, strange as it may seem, a circuit judge might take a different view. Moore vs. Dempsey, 261 U. S. 48, relied upon by petitioners, I think conclusive against them when read with the petition and its supporting affidavits. I have on this record no right to interfere with the legal process of the courts of Massachusetts."

Thayer Not Frustrated:
In another statement, Attorney General Arthur K. Reading pointed out that Justice Holmes did not find that Justice Thayer had been prejudiced. Attorney General Reading said in effect that it should not be understood that Mr. Justice Holmes found or even ready to find that Justice Thayer had been prejudiced, but simply ruled that even if it should be found that Justice Thayer was prejudiced there would be no occasion for Mr. Justice Holmes to interfere.

The formal document delaying the execution was rushed from the State House to the state prison in the hands of Capt. Charles C. Beaupre of the State police who delivered it to Warden William Hendry at twenty minutes before midnight. The warden, a heavy slow moving man, with a dark mustache, took it with a twinkle in his eye and proceeded at once down the long cement corridors that lead from his office to the death house.

"It's all off, boys," he said.
The three men were sitting on cots in adjoining cells expecting in a few minutes to be marched forth to the electric chair. Preparations for the execution, such as silencing trunks and removing the metal strips through which the current would pass had not yet been made.

Falls to Sir Condemed:
The news that this was not after all to be their last night on earth failed to stir the emotions of any one of the condemned men, said the warden. Only one of them as much as spoke. This one was Vanzetti, who throughout the imprisonment had maintained a less melancholy attitude than Sacco. Vanzetti arose slowly from his cot and came over to the cell door. Gripping the bars with his hands, he leaned forward.

"I'm damned glad of that; I'd like to see my sister before I die," Warden Hendry quoted him as saying.
The warden said he urged Sacco and Vanzetti to eat. Although both had been served meals at six o'clock, neither had touched his food. The warden said he told them, "Be men, now, and start eating for a change; forget the hunger strike."

Will Quit Death House:
The condemned men remained in the death house over night as there were no cells ready for them elsewhere in the prison. Tomorrow, the warden said, they will be removed to Cherry Hill jail.

The way is now cleared for the State Supreme court to sit as a whole. If Supreme Justice George Sutherland so decides and review the case on the evidence as well as the law.

Less than a minute after Captain Beaupre left for the prison at Charlestown with the three official reprieves, telegrams were sent from the governor's office to five of the seven justices of the Supreme court, informing them of the reprieve.

It was said the five justices would

London Police Rout Red Mob of 10,000 from U.S. Embassy

BULLETIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
BASLE, Switzerland, Aug. 10.—Twelve persons were seriously injured when a bomb was exploded in a street car station in the heart of Basle at 10 o'clock tonight. Police blame Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers for the outrage.

BY JOHN STEELE.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—(Associated Press.) Police charged a crowd of 10,000 persons which marched on the American embassy in Grosvenor Gardens as a protest against the Sacco-Vanzetti sentence tonight. The officers refrained from using clubs, but several persons were hurt when they fell down a stairway while being pressed back by the police. The mob was dispersed before any of its members could invade the embassy precincts.

The demonstration followed a huge communist rally in Hyde Park, where the crowd was hampered by speakers, including A. C. Cook, extremist labor leader, who said the "American government stands in the dock, charged with the foulest crime in civilization. If America kills these two men it will be murder—and we shall reply—we shall reply."

Much heckling, cheering and booing followed. The crowd sang "The Red Flag" and the "Internationale."
March For U. S. Embassy.
Just before 11 o'clock the speakers announced: "We will now march on the American embassy," and the vast crowd rushed to Park Lane. Traffic in the neighborhood was held up. Girls and women, hatless and discovered in the Supreme court Monday or Tuesday. It was the first time in the memory of the Supreme court that members of the Supreme court have been called in from vacation to sit on any case.

Day Dramatically Tense.
The events of the day before the final decision was made known had a cumulative effect that strained nerves to the breaking point. As hour after hour passed and move after move was made in an effort to save Sacco and Vanzetti, the air of tension in every quarter increased.

The day began with the filing of a bill of exceptions to Supreme Court Justice Sutherland's denial on Monday of a writ of error. The bill was filed by Richard C. Everts, associate counsel to Attorney Hill as supplementary to the petition for appeal filed Tuesday in the same court.

At 10 a. m. Mr. Hill, accompanied by Elias Field, also of counsel for the defense, appeared at the courthouse and went before Judge Sanderson. Attorney General Reading also was present. Nearly two hours were spent by Mr. Reading in checking over records of the hearings on Monday; then the lawyers went into conference with Judge Sanderson.

Half an hour later they emerged and Mr. Hill dictated the following statement: "We have been in conference with Justice Sanderson of the Supreme court on the bill of exceptions. We have substantially agreed upon the form in which the case shall go to the full bench if Judge Sanderson decides that he has the power and duty to allow it. We expect to see Judge Sandered, marched at the side of clerks and laborers. Down millions of rows they tramped, raising their fists at the Park Lane mansions and shouting: "Up with the reds—our days are coming."

At the corner of Grosvenor gardens hundreds of massed police met them, and forced them back from the approach of the American embassy.

Legion Keeps Silent.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
PARIS, Aug. 10.—The American Legion's convention committee tonight refused to comment on the protest against their attitude toward the Sacco-Vanzetti agitation in France, called to the national headquarters by Benjamin Conner, president of the American Chamber of Commerce in France, and past commander of the French department of the Legion.

Mr. Conner said Bowman Elder, chief of the Legion's convention committee, misstated the facts when he called Commander Savage's attention to the fact that he had received many protests and that emotion over the Sacco-Vanzetti issue was very high in France.

Americans supping at Biarritz were given a thrill last night when, after a protest meeting, striking communists marched to present a petition on the Sacco-Vanzetti case to Vice Consul Roy McWilliam. Police stopped the procession. Three shots were fired at them from the crowd. One of these killed a gardener's horse under him.

Arrest Seven in Toronto.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 10.—Five men and two women carrying banners demanding the release of Sacco and Vanzetti before the United States consulate were arrested here today.

Vanzetti autographed two books for Musmanno and wrote a farewell message on the fly leaves. The lawyer refused to accept the gift, explaining to Vanzetti that if he did so it would be a confession that he had given up all hope in connection with the fight for a reprieve. The books were two volumes of Charles A. Beard's "The Rise of American Civilization."

Vanzetti told the lawyer that while in the death house he had been enjoying Emerson's essays and has also read some books on philosophy. Attorneys Hill and Thompson re-

Hill Goes to Governor.
The governor conferred with the legal advisers in this extraordinary session until nearly 1 p. m. Following the meeting, none of the former chief law officers would make any comment.

Mr. Hill arrived at the governor's office while the conference was in progress. He was accompanied by Michael A. Musmanno, a Pittsburgh lawyer, associated with him, who said that if no respite were forthcoming a writ of habeas corpus would be sought in the federal court.

Mr. Hill conferred with the governor and the attorney general. When he emerged at 10:30 o'clock he waved newspaper men aside and returned to the attorney general, who stated that any announcement must come from the governor. The latter remained in his office, inaccessible to reporters.

Mr. Hill hurried away to his office, where he remained at work on some legal papers and then went to Beverly Farms, twenty-three miles from Boston, to call upon Supreme Court Justice Holmes. His visit was reported to be in connection with a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. The trip was made by automobile and Mr. Hill was accompanied by William G. Thompson, who remained as chief defense counsel last week.

The governor's council has been waiting to open the special meeting called for noon by the governor. He had decided to place before the council the request of Mr. Hill for a respite pending further legal steps on behalf of the condemned men.

At 1 p. m. it was announced that the council would leave for lunch and return at 2:30. The council returned at that time and did not go into session. Hour after hour passed and no indication of what was going on in the governor's office came to the throng of newspapermen.

Court Action Rumored.
Official action of some sort involving the decision of Judge Sanderson was rumored when Clerk of Court Walter Frederick and Richard Murray, a messenger attached to Judge Sanderson's court, arrived at the governor's office at 5 o'clock. They had with them what was apparently a legal paper.

Meantime, counsel for the condemned men had had difficulty in obtaining their signatures to the petition for the writ of habeas corpus. Alphonse Gagliardi, a notary public, acting for the defense, visited Sacco in the death house at the state prison, but the condemned man, on the twenty-fifth day of his hunger strike, refused to sign it.

Vanzetti was more willing, but signed the petition only on condition that the appeal should cover the case of Sacco as well as his own. Just before noon Mr. Musmanno had visited Sacco and tried to persuade him to sign the petition, but met with no success.

"Nailed to the Cross."
Sacco positively refused to sign the petition, said Mr. Musmanno. "He says, 'They have nailed me to the cross for seven years. They cannot expect me to sign any papers now.'"

While the conferences were being held in the governor's office, Warden William Hendry in Charlestown state prison was going ahead with the plans for the execution of Sacco, Vanzetti and Celestino Madrosio, who made a confession purporting to show that the turned from the visit to Justice Holmes at 1 p. m. and went at once to the State house.

Want Hearing on Fact.
Defense counsel's efforts during the day were to seek an early adjudication of the appeals before the full bench of the State Supreme court, although that court has twice passed on the case, each time adversely. This time it is hoped to have the Supreme court rule on questions of fact as well as law; the previous decisions having been only on questions of law.

The exceptions taken to Judge Sanderson's ruling were on the writ of error which he denied. Judge Sanderson, it appeared, could allow the exceptions to go before the full bench of the Supreme court or he could deny them. Denial would permit the defense to bring a petition for leave of proof of the exceptions and this would be heard before the full bench.

Because of the possibility of three sets of exceptions going to the full bench of the Supreme court, friends of the condemned men were hopeful that their lives might be spared for some time.

Prepare for Executions.
While the conferences were being held in the governor's office, Warden William Hendry in Charlestown state prison was going ahead with the plans for the execution of Sacco, Vanzetti and Celestino Madrosio, who made a confession purporting to show that the men were not at the South Braintree murders and holding seven years ago. It was reported that the warden would delay the execution only on the request, written or verbal, of Gov. Fuller. There were also rumors that he would delay the final act at least until Thursday night because of action of Supreme Judge Sanderson earlier in the day in making an appointment with defense counsel. The warden declined to commit himself during the day pending instructions from Gov. Fuller.

Troops Guard Prison.
As it appeared that the executions were to take place, a close guard of troops was placed about the prison. Vehicles were diverted four blocks from the prison and none but residents of the homes within the dead line were permitted to enter, each under escort of a policeman.

Prison chaplains visited near by for possible changes of mind on the part of the three condemned men who had signed no desire for religious consolation. The search to the chair in thirteen steps from Madrosio's cell, 27 from Sacco's cell, and 31 from Vanzetti's cell.

Final word of the fact that the pair would not be put to death tonight came from Warden Hendry at 11:25 p. m. when he said that he had received a despatch. He had said nearly an hour earlier that he had received such orders, but he seemed then in doubt.

15 MILLION HALL TO BE DESIGNED BY 7 ARCHITECTS

Abandon Plan to Hold National Competition.

Seven of Chicago's leading architects were appointed by the county board yesterday as a committee to plan and supervise the building of the $15,000,000 Chicago hall. Eric E. Hall, county architect, will have charge of the work and the other six will act as advisers.

At the same time the board passed a resolution introduced by President John J. Cermak directing the architect to proceed at once with the first preliminary step, the making of sketches for the general design of the structure.

The appointment of a committee to handle the architectural work was adopted as an alternative to a proposal to have an international competition in selecting the architect.

Combined Skill of Several.

"With competition in awarding the architectural contract, we would obtain the services of only one architect," President Cermak explained the board's action.

"With the committee we have the combined art and skill of a group of leaders in their profession who could be brought together only by a civic spirit to work out a civic masterpiece for Cook county."

Mr. Hall is the designer and builder of the new Criminal Courts and County Jail building and the Juvenile Detention Home and Juvenile Court building.

Others on Committee. — The other six architects and some of their greater works are: Benjamin H. Marshall, of Marshall & Fox—Blackstone hotel, Edgewater beach hotel, and Steger building; E. R. Graham, of Graham, Anderson, Probst & White—Union station, Flat iron building of New York, Union station and General postoffice of Washington.

John A. Holabird, of Holabird & Grant Park stadium, Stevens hotel; Daniel Burnham of D. H. Burnham & Co.—Central life building, Burnham building, A. W. Shaw building; C. Herrick Hammond of Perkins, Graham & Hammond—A student of design structures, as well as a designer of many buildings.

James D'Esposito—Consulting engineer for the $50,000,000 Union station.

Coroner's Jury Refuses to Hold Husband in Slaying

The unwritten law was invoked yesterday by a coroner's jury which refused to hold William O'Donnell, who shot and killed Ernest Halter, 2223 South 53d avenue, Cicero, two weeks ago when he found Halter in the O'Donnell home at 1421 North Clark street with Mrs. O'Donnell. Both men were shot and Mrs. O'Donnell was also killed by a bullet fired by Halter. The coroner's jury returned an open verdict, but O'Donnell still has a murder charge against him in the Municipal court.

ETHER ELECTRICAL DEVICE FOUND TO BE FAKE

A device to collect electrical energy from the ether which was tested recently in Kansas City by the "inventor," H. E. Perrigo, has been found to be a fake and grand jury investigation is on. This photo was taken when it was tested on Perrigo's auto, but a powerful storage battery was found concealed in the upholstery. In the car are Perrigo and his wife. At the left is L. E. Girl Leader of Reds Just a Good Daughter to Mother

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Harboring a yearning to reform the world, but a bit hazy as to what's wrong with it, 18-year-old Aurora D'Angelo, zealous evangel of radicalism who led the Sacco-Vanzetti rioters of Tuesday night, sat yesterday in a jail cell and faced against the whole social order.

A mile or more away, in the plain, neat third story flat at 908 Sibley street that is Aurora's home, her best friend sat beside the circular dining table, fingers beating a tattoo on the huge glass vase in the center, and talked about her daughter.

While Aurora, black eyes snapping, kicked her patent pumps against the cement floor of her cell and denounced capitalism and the educational system, religion and morals, Mrs. Lewis Borgie, the remarried mother, smiled a bit and explained how Aurora got that way.

A Flirt Student, Mother Says.

"Aurora is so full of health," she said, "so fiery, so headstrong. Always she reads and reads. Books, books, books. She goes to the library and reads for hours. Then she tells us unusual mental companions Aurora has chosen—as oddly assorted as is her own impetuous nature in a family of contrasting temperaments. She has friend into them and has followed Eugene Debs. She relishes the works of Shakespeare and admires Karl Marx. Her loyalty to the classics is as firm as her adherence to the principles of radicalism."

The personification of youth in rebellion, Aurora pursued her lips determinedly when asked to talk about her family and shook her head in refusal. But her mother, whose soft brown eyes glowed with interest in the topic, was nothing loath to talk about Aurora.

"So headstrong, but so good."

"She ought to have been a boy," she declared, emphasizing this with a nod of her head, "she is so headstrong. But so good. Since she was a little girl, I never have had trouble with her. I tell her to do something. She says, 'No, I won't. Then she sees I am hurt, and she comes and throws her arms round me and tells me, 'O mother, I never mean to hurt you. I love you so.' I trust her anywhere, any time."

None of her family, Mrs. Borgie said, share the girl's interest or belief in radicalism, but they have never taken issue with her. What she reads, she discusses with them. She has always been exceptionally bright in her classes, and aspires to study law. Quick to anger and as quick to repent, she is easily touched by any kind of suffering, her mother asserted. She told of an incident of several years ago, when a boy who was picknicking with the family climbed a tree and seized a birdling, intending to let it fall and kill it. Aurora shrieked and shrieked at him not to hurt the bird, until he restored it and climbed down.

Aurora Tells Her Side.

Yet a scant quarter of an hour before, the girl herself had scoffed at the idea of morals or filial love. "Morals—bah! Course I don't believe in them. Man-made. If a man is hard up and has to steal to keep from starving, why shouldn't he steal? Only as a last resort, of course. Well, no, it wouldn't be right for everybody to steal. I—O, say, that's too deep for me. I don't want to discuss it."

"Love my mother? Not as a mother—just as a friend. I love my mother because she's always been more a friend than a mother to me. Tell you about her? Nope. Why should I talk about her?"

"I've been going to hear the lectures (radical) for about four years. I believe in it, but I haven't got it all just worked out yet. This Sacco and Vanzetti—I've been interested in them for a long time."

Doesn't Believe in Violence.

"But we didn't want any violence the other night. Believe it? I should say not. Why should I preach violence? We wanted a general strike—a peaceable, general walkout of the workers—in sympathy, you see. And say, I'm a radical—that's what they call you if you're progressive. I'm just a bit ahead of the times."

No matter where she is, declared the mother who talked about Aurora's pilgrimage to Ravenna to drink in the opera there, her excursions to the museum and the library, her lack of interest in beauty and dances and her tendency to leadership and to think things out for herself: "I trust her."

"I trust her."

"Philo Vance, the amateur detective, is an original and fascinating person," says Wm. Lyon Phelps, "and

"MIRACLE" AUTO PROVED FAKE BY ENFORCED TEST

Had Small but Powerful Hidden Batteries.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 10.—(Special)—The "miracle" automobile of H. E. Perrigo, propelled, according to the claims of its inventor, by electricity drawn from the air, was exposed as a fake in an investigation conducted by the blue sky commissioner of Missouri and the Better Business Bureau of this city. The exposure was a great shock as people had looked on the "miracle" as likely to supplant all forms of mechanical power and light. Perrigo had sold stock to the amount of $40,000. Over a period of ten years he had given demonstrations showing the motor of the automobile running without visible source of power. The investigation revealed a number of small but powerful storage batteries concealed in the upholstery.

The investigation case during an electrical test of his device forced upon Perrigo by authorities yesterday. He had asked for a delay, but this was refused.

Find Concealed Power.

While Perrigo was temporarily absent from the room, a newspaper reporter pushed his arm down into the back of the car seat and found the batteries concealed there.

Battery men present identified the batteries as having been purchased by Perrigo recently and by electrical tests proved to themselves the current Perrigo was putting into his motor was exactly that which the batteries would have supplied.

Seventy-two Batteries.

Perrigo had ordered the batteries a few days ago. There were seventy-two of them, built into six units each, and there was enough power in them, the experts said, to operate a car for several hours.

The inventor at first denied buying the batteries, then admitted it, but still insisted the batteries were for other purposes. Then he made a proposition to demonstrate his invention but wanted several days to prepare for the test. The investigators insisted upon an immediate trial.

The inventor after some hesitation turned a switch and the motor started turning. Apparently, it was running on energy obtained from the air. The electrical experts, however, made tests and announced that the power was similar to that of the batteries sold to Perrigo. Then, the batteries themselves were found hidden in the upholstery.

Had Made Impressive Claims.

Perrigo first made his "invention" known about ten years ago. He announced that he would free the public from all drudgery with free and unlimited electric power. He asserted

BORAH WILL ASK U. S. SECRET FILES IN SACCO CASE

New York, Aug. 10.—(Special)—

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho today aligned himself with a movement which will make an effort to open the files of the justice department relating to the Sacco-Vanzetti case. He declined to join with some of his colleagues of the senate, members of the house and governors in signing a petition to President Coolidge, Secretary Kellogg, and Attorney General Sargent for immediate inspection of those important records, believing that the move would be too late to stay an execution of judgment in the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

Senator Borah was enlisted in the effort to open the government's files in the Sacco-Vanzetti case by Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of The Nation, and Morris L. Ernst, attorney for the American Civil Liberties union.

According to Ernst, Senator Lynn J. Frazier, of North Dakota, Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin and Congressman George Huddleston of Alabama, accepted invitations to sign the petition to the President.

Robbed of $600 and Gears as He Drives Into Garage

As he was driving his automobile into the garage in the rear of his home at 4020 Dante avenue late last night Robert F. Steckham, owner of the Steckham Motor Sales company, was robbed of $600 in cash, $400 in checks, a $1,000 diamond ring, and a $500 stickpin by two armed robbers. The bandits took his automobile, but abandoned it later at 7th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

Had Made Impressive Claims.

NEVADA GOVERNOR PRAISES FULLER FOR SACCO CASE DECISION

Reno, Nev., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Gov. Baker of Nevada has telegraphed to Gov. Fuller of Massachusetts commending his decision in the Sacco-Vanzetti case. The dispatch says:

"I have refused requests to wire you asking postponement of execution of Sacco and Vanzetti. I believe your decision was right and fully justified by the facts of the case and you are backed by every loyal American."

At the same time Gov. Baker telegraphed a New York paper that proposed a committee of governors to investigate the findings that he had already approved Gov. Fuller's action and declined to be a member of the committee.

that motor cars, train, ships and airplanes would be driven without cost or upkeep, and houses lighted and heated similarly.

He had a lighting system in his home which apparently had no power source. An investigation will be made of this system.

The entire case will be placed before the grand jury, George H. Hunter, manager of the Better Business Bureau, announced. A purchaser of shares in the "invention" was sought to act as complainant.

KING OR SNOOPER, WHO IS HIGHEST? IS COURT QUERY

"Lightning may strike the house and snow and rain may fall into it, but the king cannot enter it," quoted Attorney J. J. McCarthy from Blackstone yesterday when he pleaded that his client's home had been entered by prohibition agents, who raided without a search warrant.

But what is a mere king as compared to a prohibition agent? United States Commissioner James H. Glass asked.

Attorney McCarthy argued that his client, Frank Walls, 1615 Edgewood avenue, Burnside, charged with violating the prohibition laws, should be freed, but Commissioner Glass said he would rather have the courts draw the distinction between the rights of a dry rider and a king, and held Walls to the grand jury in bonds of $1,000.

INTERCITY RUM FEUD SEEN IN MYSTERY KILLING

Identify Slain Pair as St. Louis Gangsters.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Ed Smith and John Haskman, lawyers, were sentenced to 1 year each in the House of Correction; John Haskman and William Connelley, lawyers, 1 year each in Pontiac reformatory, by Chief Justice William J. Lindbergh.

Two supposed St. Louis gangsters, identified as Chicago's liquor racket, were sentenced to 1 year each in the House of Correction; John Haskman and William Connelley, lawyers, 1 year each in Pontiac reformatory, by Chief Justice William J. Lindbergh.

They were identified through disquisitions to their parents as Anthony J. Russo and Vincent Spicuzza. Both were reported to be well known to the police of St. Louis, where they were said to have had dealings with several gangs whose chief activity was liquor-running, and it was considered that the two slain men had that in their mission to Chicago.

Watch For Clew Helps. Fingerprints of the two victims were sent to St. Louis in order that the identification might be made certain. One of the men, later identified as Russo, had the initials "A. K. S." on his watch fob. He wore jewelry valued at $2,000 and had $340 in cash.

The families of the two men in St. Louis said that Russo and Spicuzza had left together for Chicago nearly a week ago.

Each of the slain men had in his clothes a Pullman check issued in St. Louis on Aug. 8, and the name of a St. Louis clothier was stamped on their suits.

Believes Victims Fought Hard. "These fellows," said Dr. Joseph Bergner, expert for the city and county police, "probably were taken for a ride by their enemies. But the positions of the bodies, the bloodstains on the ground and the torn suits indicate they fought from an automobile and fought hard for their lives."

Left. Lester Laird of county police was told by John Slickman, a farmer, that several revolver shots were heard in the highway at 10 o'clock Tuesday night.

In the clothing of one of the slain victims was found a card with the notation: "Myland hotel, room 331." In that room of the Myland hotel, 2124 North Michigan avenue, were found Mrs. Florence Kline, a cabaret singer, and Samuel Daniele, 425 West 25th street. They were unable to identify the bodies.

KIDNAPS WIFE 3D TIME, SHOTS HER AND KILLS SELF

Kidnaped twice before, Mrs. May White Johnson, 25 years old, of 7246 Calumet avenue, was taken on a third wild ride yesterday by her estranged husband, Fred L. Johnson, and as the two approached Joliet he stopped his car, shot her in the head, and then killed himself.

Harry Storm, a farmer, found the wounded woman and her husband's body in a parked car shortly before noon. A revolver was in the dead man's hand. Mrs. Johnson was taken to a Joliet hospital where it was said she will probably die.

J. A. Cook, head of the White Motor company, 2401 Archer avenue, where Mrs. Johnson was employed, said she had told him her husband, who was a railroad switchman, living at 6421 Cottage Grove avenue, was jealous of her and had twice forced her to accompany him. The first time she was taken for a long harrowing ride through Chicago streets and the second time he took her to an apartment and took away her clothes.

Mr. Cook believed the husband must have kidnaped her again.

According to relatives of Mrs. Johnson, the couple separated because the husband was cruel to her.

SUN GLASSES MARK ROBBERIES. Wearing huge dark sun glasses as a disguise, two robbers yesterday held up Peter Corbin, 8711 Dain street, a collector for the National Tea company, in one of the company stores at 3756 North Cicero avenue, and took $1,125 from him.

Awarded gold medals and first prize, India and Ceylon, as finest tea grown.

LEVINE GETS SET TO HOP TODAY AS WEATHER CLEARS

German Aviators Await Full Moon for Flight.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Copyright: 1927. By The Chicago Tribune.) PARIS, Aug. 11 (A. M.)—Charles A. Levine is set to take off in the plane Columbia for the United States early today if the weather permits.

With each hourly weather report more favorable, Mr. Levine told Leut. Maurice Drouhin, his pilot, who spent the early hours of the evening at Le Bourget poring over maps and charts, that they would hop off at 4 a. m., providing the final reports expected at 2 o'clock were as favorable as the ones received up to midnight.

The course which the Columbia will fly was mapped out by Giles C. Steadman, first officer of the Leviathan, and was approved by Commander Richard Byrd and Clarence Chamberlin. The plane will fly in a direct line to Trouville, then to Cherbourg, Plymouth, Cape Clear, Ireland, and thence over the open sea, following a course slightly south of the great circle to Cape Bona Vista, Newfoundland, from there to Cape Bear, and then down the west coast of Nova Scotia to Boston, approximately 3,625 miles.

If the aviators reach America, they will try to fly to Philadelphia without stopping, Mr. Levine said tonight. "We would not mind that $25,000 extra for the first flight to Philadelphia," he said.

German Aviators Await Full Moon. DESSAU, Germany, Aug. 10.—The German flyers, Johann Ristice and Cornelius Edzard, are awaiting the full moon, due Saturday, to light their way across the ocean to America.

Chicagoan Fosters Flight. WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 10.—(A. M.) The newspaper Nowa Kurjer at Posen announces that the Polish aviator Kowalczyk intends to attempt a flight from that city to Le Bourget field, near Paris, and thence to New York.

The initiative was taken, the paper says, by Ald. Adamkiewicz of Chicago, who conferred with Kowalczyk while visiting Poland with the delegation of Polish-American military veterans, Mr.

Two Flyers Entered in Air Race Across Pacific Killed

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 10.—(A. M.) Lieut. George Covell and R. B. Waggener, U. S. N., who left here today in an airplane to Honolulu, were killed when the ship crashed into Point Loma, near here.

The plane fell fifteen minutes after they had left for the Oakland, Cal., airport, where they intended to take it Friday. The plane burst into flames after it struck.

Both bodies were recovered. From the position of the plane it was believed it had struck the west bank of the point as the aviators were endeavoring to gain altitude.

Caught in Wreckage. Covell's charred body was found in the cockpit of the plane. Waggener's body was recovered from the wreckage, also badly burned. Waggener is believed to have endeavored to jump clear of the plane as it fell, but was caught.

The scene of the crash was at the extreme end of Point Loma, a barren promontory rising 400 feet above and projecting several miles out into the sea, forming the land-locked bay of San Diego.

Lieutenant Covell lived at Coronado, Cal., and was married and had two children.

New Type Plane. Lieutenant Waggener lived at officers' quarters on North Island. He was not married.

The low wing monoplane, with a cruising speed of 160 miles an hour, which Covell and Waggener had planned to fly on the San Francisco-Honolulu flight was of a type entirely different from any before seen here. The plane was built by William D. Tremaux, at Brea, Cal., from where Covell and Waggener started for San Diego last Saturday, only to be forced down near Escondido because of a broken oil feed line. After repairs had been made they continued their flight to San Diego, landing here late in the day.

City of Feoria En Route. Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 10.—(A. M.) The airplane City of Feoria, piloted by C. W. Parkhurst, one of the entrants in the Dole San Francisco-Honolulu race, arrived here from Rock Springs shortly before 2 o'clock this morning.

his trip this morning on account of weather conditions. He says he will start at the earliest possible moment and hopes to take off tomorrow morning.

WOMAN DIES OF SCALDS. Mrs. Mary Duras, 57, died yesterday at St. Mary's hospital. She was scalded several months ago when a washbasin upset in her home, at 1703 South Union avenue.

Miss Templeton Delights Elmer with Her Harp

Calls Recital Over WMAQ
Best in Beauty.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Miss Hazel Templeton's harp recital from WMAQ, 830 to 8, was not only last evening's most brilliant event, but it eclipsed in sheer musical beauty, and technical dexterity, all preceding harp recitals that I recall in my radio experience.

Experience has shown that harp recitals may be anticipated with doubt, due to the probability of a thick, or thumpy tone. But not so here. The transmitted harp tones were almost true harp quality. The total of seven pieces played were totally unfamiliar, except "The Fountain," by Zabel, and this masterpiece and the other selections were big numbers of extreme concert difficulty. And her style, touch, great technical mastery, and musical perceptions enabled her to run the terrific gauntlet that the selections imposed upon her powers of a harp virtuoso—without an indication of anything but the finest of the fine that a harp concert affords.

Likewise, sheer beauty and pure art in tone was J. Ennio Bolognini's cello recital from WBBH, 9 to 9:40. His program was a thoroughly familiar one. Bolognini recitals are things of uncountable wonder because no other cellist I know of equals his pure, lush, clear, ever changing tone color, the richness of his low tones, the spontaneity of his impassioned outbursts that find expression in quickened tempo, flashing tone utterances, and in shading and echos effects.

Pure art was also found in the Schubert-Schumann song recital by Gilbert Ford, tenor, W-G-N, 9:45 to 10:05. The songs presented were those of the quieter order, and for which Mr. Ford's voice seemed eminently suited. These two masters of German lieder deserve to be heard often.

The program of duos and solos by Frederick Newell Wood, tenor, and Burt Skyles, baritone, WMAQ, 9 to 9:45, was full of life.

The presentation of G. Henry's story, "Mama and the Archer," WJZ-KY-W, 7 to 7:30, was admirable, laughable, and met the difficult requirements for radio drama presentation.

COUNTY MAY JOIN BATTLE AGAINST GASOLINE TAX

When the fight over the new state gasoline tax advances beyond the 16th Circuit court, probably going directly to the state supreme court, Cook county may be lined up officially beside the autoist's organization, it was learned yesterday. Under the terms of a resolution presented by Commissioner John W. Gibson, attorneys for the county board will join the county for the Chicago Motor club in the effort to have the act declared invalid.

A decision in the Chicago Motor club's court test of the law will not be announced here next week. When Judge John K. Newhall and William J. Fulton of the Sixteenth Circuit finished hearing arguments yesterday at Geneva, the county seat of Kane county, they adjourned court until next Monday.

Pastor-Marshall Found Shot to Death in Missouri

Southwest City, Mo., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The Rev. W. H. Hatfield, pastor of the Methodist church here and town marshal, was shot to death early today by an unknown assailant. As a foe of those who flouted the dry laws, the Rev. Mr. Hatfield made many enemies, and officers believe that one of them killed the pastor-officer.

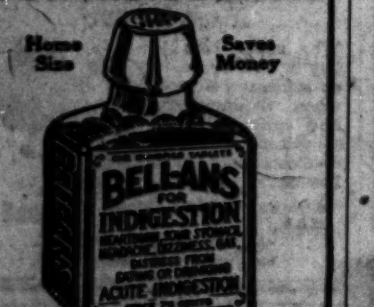

OBITUARY.

MRS. THERESA WARD, 814 South Sangamon street, wife of Thomas Ward, supervisor of the city crib, and a resident of Chicago since before the fire of 1871, died at her home yesterday. She was 69 years old. She is survived by her husband and five sons.

ALBERT GAYLORD WELCH, well known Chicago attorney, who died Monday of pneumonia, was buried yesterday in Oakwood cemetery. Burial was held at St. Paul's Episcopal church, 60th street and Dorchester avenue. A committee from the Chicago Bar association, of which Mr. Welch was at one time vice president, attended the funeral.

MISS ESTHER B. EIDMANN, 6735 South Union avenue, died on Tuesday after a brief illness. Miss Eidmann was a graduate of the University of Chicago and a member of the Sigma club. She was interested in public welfare work. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Eidmann, pioneer residents of Englewood, and the sister of Herbert W. Eidmann.

Correll and Gosden to Harmonize Over W-G-N

Twenty minutes of singing by Correll and Gosden, the likable harmony kings of W-G-N, this Chicago Tribune station on the Drake hotel, will occupy the limelight tonight as one of the station's best features. The two boys are scheduled to begin their program at 10:40 o'clock. Groups of recording numbers will be sung, also.

CHAS. J. CORRELL.

A number of clever novelty songs and their famous grand opera burlesques, "The Arabian Nights" Entertainment, W-G-N weekly novelty or orchestral program, is another feature scheduled for presentation this evening between 9 and 10. Henry Selinger, director, has prepared an interesting program, opening with Silbille's popular "Pipilands." A portion of this program is always devoted to songs that still live in public esteem, and tonight listeners will hear "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," "Nancy Lee," and "Kathleen Maureen."

The Eskimos will come galloping down from their northern home to night between 8 and 9 o'clock, with another of their programs of popular melodies. This is Harry Reser's famous banjo jam band, and they have become a feature in the Thursday night program from W-G-N. In addition to syncope, there'll be some vocal music, and a group of banjo solos by Director Reser.

Vocal music during the W-G-N evening will be offered by Bryce Talbot, baritone. Mr. Talbot will be heard as soloist during the Arabian Nights' Entertainment and he also is to offer a short program between 10:20 and 10:30, following the ever popular Music Box.

Women listeners will find much of interest in this morning's Home Man.

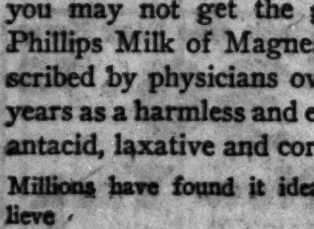

Parents Battle in Court for Custody of Baby Son

Superior Judge Joseph David will be asked this morning to decide whether the mother or father of a 19-month-old baby boy is entitled to his custody. Roy C. Horton, a hotel engineer, is seeking to take the child from his estranged wife, Mrs. Anna Horton, 1149 Hickory avenue, alleging that she abandoned the infant in her locked apartment after their separation last month. A few days later, with the aid of a policeman relative, she took the baby from the home of friends where Mr. Horton was keeping him, the father charges.

Hunt Six Men in Death of Fireman at Beer Flat

Six men were ordered arrested for manslaughter by Deputy Coroner Sidney Deutsch yesterday following an inquest into the death Tuesday night of John J. O'Brien, 57 years old, a city fireman, in an alleged beer flat at 714 West 47th street. Testimony developed that two groups of men drinking in the place quarreled. O'Brien's friends, who had been held, were released, and the six members of the other group were sought. The inquest was continued until Aug. 13 to permit the apprehension of these men and to complete a chemical analysis to determine whether O'Brien died of the beverage he drank.

JAPAN CALLS ON CHINESE TO DROP HIGH TAX PLAN

CHANGHAI, Aug. 10.—Mr. Yoshida, Japanese minister to Peking, returned to Shanghai tonight from Peking, where he conferred for two days with officials of the Nationalist government, including C. C. Wu, minister of foreign affairs, Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, Nationalist generalissimo; Hu Han-min, head of the central political committee.

"It is impossible," he said, "for the Japanese cotton mills, importers and exporters to function under the new tax program of the Nationalists, which becomes effective on Sept. 1. I have conferred with the Nationalist officials, pointing the way to a compromise. The next step rests with the Nationalist government."

Closing of Japanese owned mills would be a disaster for the Chinese as well as the owners. In the Shanghai area 50,000 Chinese are employed in these cotton mills.

The American motor car dealers in Shanghai today called the National Automobile Chamber in New York to ask the state department to protest to the Nationalist government against the luxury tax of thirty per cent on motor cars, effective Sept. 1.

ARTHUR VOLIVA KILLED BY TRAIN NEAR ST. LOUIS

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, owner of Zion City, was notified yesterday that his brother, Arthur Voliva, 37 years old, was killed by a Pennsylvania train near St. Louis. He died after being picked up in an unconscious condition by the crew of a freight train two miles west of Highland, Ill.

About ten years ago Arthur Voliva lived in Zion City, where he was chief clerk in the Zion home. He and his brother were said to have disagreed, and Arthur went to Dayton, O., where he became a salesman. His widow is a sister of the owner's first wife, now dead.

The dead man left St. Louis Tuesday to walk to Dayton, it was said. Voliva notified a deputy coroner at Highland that he was sending an undertaker to take charge of the body.

U. S. FARMERS, IN GERMANY, SCORN NEW CO-OP PLAN

STAMBUK, Germany, Aug. 10.—The American farm delegation visiting Europe to procure data on cooperative marketing learned today of the latest cooperative system of farm relief placed before President Coolidge, but commented that it is inadequate and not practical.

The efficiency of farm methods here and the careful conservation of all by-products impressed the American agriculturists during their two days of excursions in Germany's second largest city under American Consul Smith of Hamburg and Acting United States Agricultural Commissioner Steere of Berlin. Mr. Steere is accompanying the party through Germany.

"Our farmers pay 30 cents of each dollar spent by the consumer, but I am sure from the figures and observations here that the European producers get 50 per cent or more," S. H. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau, said.

Last night the party was introduced to 17 per cent Muenchener and the products of the Rhine vineyards at a banquet.

In the last ten years woman has progressed forty years she spends less time at home but...she is a better housekeeper than her mother was

IS the woman of today different from the woman of ten years ago? Yes! Her range of interests would have staggered her mother.

Her wardrobe is three times as large. She uses tons of rouge, face powder and beauty creams, cuts her hair, plays golf and is generally far more sophisticated in every way.

Yet in spite of all this she is a better housekeeper than her mother was. She appreciates the values of style in serving food; she feeds her family more scientifically; cares for her children more intelligently—runs her home with her head rather than her hands.

She has been able to do these things because she has found more leisure—leisure in which to read, study and interchange ideas.

Where did she find the time? She has no more help. Today only 10 per cent of the homes in America boast of servants.

She has won this time largely by putting into effect efficient methods of housekeeping. Ten years ago she used to walk 7 miles a day in the kitchen. Today, thanks to properly planned kitchens, this mileage has been reduced to 3 miles a day by setting cupboard, table, sink and stove in proper relation to one another.

The woman of today cannot be judged by the measuring rods of 1917. For woman's progress in the last ten years has been as great as it was in the forty years preceding.

And the great force which has been largely instrumental in bringing this about is the enterprise of the woman's magazines.

The leading women's publications are no longer edited with a pot of paste and a pair of scissors. They have studied woman's needs as a great university studies the requirements of its student body. They have become counsellors of many sided usefulness to women and have pointed the way to greater efficiency and a fuller enjoyment of life.

Bottles at Ump.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Rube Ruth and his bat, after three hitless games, came to life today and scored all the runs for the Yankees, who held the second place Senators in check in the series opener, 4 to 3.

After scoring Combs in the first with a single, Ruth in the third hoisted a home run off Zachary's offerings into the outfield stands for a homer, Combs and Koenig crossing the plate ahead of him. It was his 36th home run, putting him two behind his teammate Gehrig.

The game was marked by considerable rowing between Washington players and Umpire Rowland.

Rowland put Manager Harris out of the game in the fourth for protesting against a called strike, and a shower of pop bottles came from the stands. In the ninth, during an argument with Manager Rowland was nearly hit by a bottle.

Outfielder Bill Lamar, obtained by the Senators from the Athletics on waivers, drew an indefinite suspension today when he sought a $1,000 bonus for joining the Washington club.

DEMPSEY WILL ARRIVE AUG. 18
TO PICK CAMPParty to Leave Coast on Sunday.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10.—Jack Dempsey today countermanded plans previously made for his party en route from Hollywood to Chicago. Mrs. Jack Dempsey will not speak or be seen by any one in Chicago while her husband is training for the Tunney bout, according to the boxer.

"I cancelled part of our arrangements for the train trip because of Bettelle's condition," Dempsey said. "The doctor says she can go along only on condition that she sees nobody and is protected against all intrusions and worries."

Headed East Sunday.
The Dempsey party, consisting of the ex-champion, Mrs. Dempsey, her woman nurse, Floyd Fitzsimmons, Mrs. Fitzsimmons, Trainer Jerry Lucad, and Jimmy Detarr, press agent, will leave in special compartments on the Union Pacific-Northwestern road Sunday evening.

They will stop off one day in Salt Lake City. Dempsey today canceled reservations previously made for a stop at Denver. The boxer wishes to reach his prospective location in the neighborhood of Chicago which have been offered him as a training site, particularly the one at Arlington Heights, as soon as possible.

Leo Flynn, his manager, will have the choice of sites narrowed to three places. Dempsey will make a final decision on the site of the fight city. It turned out today that Dempsey had been so sure Richard was going to stage his second fight in Chicago that he had bought a round trip ticket when he left New York for California.

TUNNEY'S BOSS HERE
Billy Gibson, manager of Heavyweight Champion Gene Tunney, who will defend his title against Jack Dempsey on Soldiers' field in New York, Sept. 22, arrived in Chicago yesterday to select a training camp for the titleholder.

The champion's manager visited several places, but he will not make a final decision for a few days. He asserted the training camp must be close to a lake or river, with a golf course available. Above all, he said, the spot must be quiet and off the highways.

Gibson will inspect other places to-day and they might be able to make a definite announcement. As soon as he decides upon the site he will return to New York.

According to Gibson, the title holder will not need much work to fit him for the battle. He has been in light training at Speculator, N. Y., for the last three weeks. He has done the heavy work of running on the road, punching and wrestling with the sand bag and tugging with his sparring partners. When he comes west he will start to box.

George Getz, the promoter of the show, is expected back from Holland, Mich., today. Tex. Rickard, who brought the fight to Chicago, will be here on Saturday.

Wisconsin Field House
Bill Vetted by Governor
Madison, Wis., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The University of Wisconsin field house bill, appropriating $200,000 to the university for the erection of a new athletic hall, was vetoed by Gov. Fred E. Zimmerman today. The bill had passed both houses by a large margin.

GENE PREPARES FOR JACK

The world's heavyweight champion has started training for his bout with Dempsey at Soldiers' field Sept. 22. Tunney is trying for a couple of fish at Speculator, N. Y., and appears to be enjoying it.

In the Wake of the News

PRICE OF SEATS.
DEAR WAKES: Why do Chicagoans have to pay $40 to see Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey square off for a few rounds—more than ten?

Soldiers' field will seat almost twice as many as Yankee stadium in New York, yet a larger seat charge is scheduled. Seems to me a larger seating capacity should mean lower seat charges if the park board and Richard wish to be fair. Why promote such a classic as that Richard can make a million for himself? I am all for sports, but not the holdup class.

A. C. D.
The Wake does not seem excited over prices for the coming fight any more than we do over what scalpers secure for good seats at popular stage attractions. We class both as luxuries—not necessities—whose promoters charge all the traffic will bear.

It so happens that we seldom pay for our seat at a ring contest. But we apply the same principle to theater seats. We figure whether the charge asked for any show is worth it to us. If it is not we do not go. As a boy we sat in theater gallery seats. We could do it again if we felt impelled to see a show and did not wish to be gouged.

In baseball the management wishes the good will of its patrons. It fixes a price which will take patrons to the parks on off days and when the team is losing. It is a permanent amusement, and public sentiment counts in the long run.

Each boxing contest stands on its own bottom. It is a one day affair. It may prove a "bust" financially or it may prove a big money-maker. The promoter, with his huge guarantee to the principals, thinks only of that one fight and lets the future take care of itself. He bases his charges accordingly. We do not say he is right or wrong, ethically, but if he guesses wrong on his crowd he loses money.

Jockey Unconscious After
Fall in Boulah Park Race
Columbus, O., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Jockey Frank Alexander, 23 year old rider from Raceland, Ky., was knocked unconscious in the first race at Boulah park this afternoon when his mount, Winnie Stuart, stumbled and fell. He was taken to the hospital.

Golden M. with Jockey H. Long riding, also piled up, but neither horse nor rider was injured.

CULVER CREW TO ARRIVE TODAY FOR
WATER CARNIVALTribune Sunday Program
Starts at 2 P. M.

The eight oared crew of Culver Military academy, which will meet the Century Boat club of St. Louis in one of the feature races of the Taz Tazman's sixth annual water carnival in the Lincoln park lagoon on Saturday and Sunday, will arrive in Chicago today.

Culver is coached by Commander O. W. Fowler, who learned his oarsmanship at the Naval academy. The eight finished a close second in the junior national championship race at Wyandotte, Mich., last week and is one of the best summer school eights developed by Commander Fowler in years.

The eight will be struck by the W. H. Larkin, a St. Louis athlete, and J. F. Gage of Dayton, O., will handle the ruder strings.

Young Arrived Sunday.
The Century eight will be here tomorrow, when the South Side Boat club eight of Quincy, Ill., which meets Lincoln Park in another crew race, will arrive on Saturday morning.

The same is true of the Quincy singles and doubles which will row against Lincoln Park. The two clubs will be represented by two single scullers. One will compete in the quarter mile dash and the other in the three-quarter mile event.

George Young, the eighteen year old Canadian who won the Catalina channel swim and who will give a one mile exhibition about the middle of the program, will be here Sunday morning.

Aside from the well known men divers, some of the leading women experts in the city will give exhibitions from the high board and low boards. George Eckert, successful swimming coach at Sinal Social Center, will send Isabel Smith, Clara McGinnis and Claudia Eckert to the carnival, while Mary Clark of Columbus park, who recently won the championship of the west park, will be the other contestant.

These diving exhibitions will be held under the direction of Harry Haeckel, who will be the referee. Haeckel, a well known swimming instructor of the C. A. A.

May Be No Game Prelims.
As only a few entries have been received for the canoe events, it may not be necessary to hold trials in these contests on Saturday. A definite announcement regarding these preliminaries will be made on Saturday morning.

These trials were the only events scheduled for Saturday, as all other races will be decided on Sunday, starting at 2 o'clock.

Emil Johnson, superintendent of Lincoln park, has started construction of the new swimming pool on the large acre to be anchored just north of the boat club. A wedding machine will be in operation for the remainder of the week to cut the weeds which appear in the course in some places.

The wire fence surrounding the lagoon will be tested and every precaution taken to avoid accidents.

A band will play during the intermissions between races, while the divers will perform all afternoon.

Giants Down Pirates, 8-3,
by Seventh Inning AttackBY EDWARD BURNS.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 10.—Mayor Thompson's committee on clean sports should take time out immediately from civic affairs and proceed to putting on a tag day for the New York Giants. Or, if not a tag day, a pair of ring-side tickets not too many blocks from the "ring-side" would be a swell reward for each of Mr. McGraw's athletes.

For, by beating the second place Pirates, 8 to 3, this afternoon, the New York Giants enabled the Cubs to reclaim, without moving a muscle, the half game edge they had yesterday in the National league standings. And, to make it almost compulsory for the majority act, a Chicagoan, Freddie Lindstrom, was principal factor in a six run rally after two were out in the eighth inning. The move was launched while Freddie's teammates were staggering from a three run onslaught staged in the seventh by the Pirates which had given them a 3 to 2 edge.

Giants Get Two in First.
In the first inning, Reese beat out a bunt and was driven home by Lindstrom's double. Freddie made the count two, when Hornsby came along with a single.

Working with his two run lead, Larry Benton breezed along, until the seventh, allowing only four hits, two by each of the Waner brothers. But, in the seventh, Larry weakened after Barnhart was out, Rhyne singled and, after George's walk, Pinch Hitter Joe Harris drove in Rhyne with a double. Yde ran for Joe and came in himself when L. Waner got his third hit. Grandstand walked and L. Waner saluted when brother Paul scored his third safety.

Lindestrom Starts It.
At this juncture the Giants looked hopeless. Pinch Hitter Ott fled out, and so did Reese. Then Lindstrom singled. So did Rhyne. Hornsby walked and Terry got a pass, forcing Lindstrom home. Jackson singled, scoring Reese and Hornsby. Mann batted for Harper and doubled, scoring Terry. Jackson also scored when Goch dropped the relay to the plate. Terry singled, scoring Mann, and moved to third on a wild pitch that Gochman walked. The fourtihs Pirates.

Cuyler Banned

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 10.—Benching of Haas Cuyler, fleet Pirate outfielder, on top of a $400 fine imposed for listless base running, caused Pittsburgh baseball fans to speculate today on a possibility whether "Kild" would play with Pittsburgh next year. Several clubs, including New York, were named as possible bidders for Cuyler.

Cuyler was fined and benched by Manager Bush for failing to slide into second base on a bouncer to first in the opening game of the New York series. The player insisted that he went into the base "standing up" in an effort to prevent a double play.

Pittsburgh sports writers, however, pointed out that Cuyler preferred playing center to left, his last assignment, and that he was disatisfied with his position in the batting order, preferring a place farther down than second.

pitcher of the inning, then struck out Devoe to end the rally.

The Pirates left tonight for St. Louis, where they open a four game series with the Cardinals tomorrow. After that the contenders go to New York, starting their eastern invasion against the Giants, all of which seems to be made to order for the Cubs to continue at the top of the National league heap. Who'll Win Today?

THE TRIBUNE inaugurated a Tuesday plan of giving a daily award of $10 to the member of the Cub team who on that day was of most value to his team. At the end of each week a grand prize will be awarded. Irving Vaughan, baseball writer for The Tribune, who has reported every Cub game this year, will be the judge. The prize is given as an added incentive to good play. Letters commending or criticizing the award will be welcomed. Watch the game today and then watch for Mr. Vaughan's selection of the prize winner.

With their third long winning streak of the season gone to smithereens the league leading Cubs have nothing to do now but to step out and start another. They'll make the attempt this afternoon when the Cincinnati Reds, who recently resigned the tall end position, came to town for three games in four days. After that the Cubs will go away for a long time.

As Mr. McCarthy always believes in showing his guests a good time, he probably will turn loose Charley Root, the man with twenty victories, in the opening combat. Affable Jack Hendricks, who retains his keen appetite for corned beef and cabbage despite his long residence in the kaiser's schmit atmosphere of Cincinnati, is expected to counter with Adolfo Luque, but that doesn't bother the Cubs because Root can thump the Reds about six out of every seven times he tackles them. And another important thing is that the Chicagoans must protect their three and one half game lead they have in the procession toward the world's series.

McCarthy Is Great Leader.
Those who still are unable to account for the rity position of the Cubs and who believe that a crisis is inevitable are advised to take certain things into consideration. First of all, and of greatest importance is that Mr. McCarthy, while possessing all at all times is a slave driver of the McGraw type. Mr. McCarthy issues his orders in a gentlemanly tone. His players appreciate his method, so give them credit. They know that if they do not give their best there will be trouble. And there is no discord, and hasn't been at any time since McCarthy put on his robes of office.

The belittlers of the McCarthy gang also overlook the fact that the team has several players of consequence. Just because the team has come up suddenly out of nowhere there is an inclination to believe that it is nothing but luck that has kept them out in front of such seasoned aggregations as the Pirates and Cardinals. Right, ever brilliant, fielding and timely hitting linked with about the steadiest pitching provided by any staff in the league is not luck. The sour apples who argue that way probably would say that it is mere luck when Ruth hits one about seven furlongs and breaks up a ball game.

Cub Infield One of the Best.
As the Cub infield now stands it probably rates higher than any in the league for all around consistency. Some of the other contenders may have an edge in certain positions but individually does not make winning teams. At first base Grimm can show any of them how to field. Back, if caught inclined to jungle around, can cover a wide range of territory and so the way in which English is playing short rates him as about the sweetest in the league at this particular position and short stopping is important on a pennant contending team. Adams is not the greatest third sacker in the business, second base being his specialty, but you'll notice that he's in there every day. He is not a piece of Dresden china.

McCarthy has another highly valuable workman in Hack Wilson. Hack is a hitter and is known as such, hence his fielding skill is overlooked. But when the lead, or the main thing is that the entire troupe plays hard, and as it should be played. It makes the will to win even when the odds are apparently insurmountable, and if a pennant comes this way in October it will be mainly because of the latter factor.

FINDS BARRIER TO WORLD TRADE IN TRANSPORT COST

BY HARPER LEECH.
Belgian brick leap the tariff barriers into Brooklyn with ease. Indian pig iron and European cement enter America, but never get far from the coast line. On the other hand Sheffield razor blades to fit American holders enjoy increasing popularity in the Chicago loop.

Enthusiasts for international trade might get a hint from that. The real way to increase its volume is to cheapen it.

on interior transport. If the St. Lawrence seaway were open today Chicago brickmakers would have something besides hollow tile to worry about.

According to the author, it appears that the volume of international trade will never increase in proportion to general world productivity for the simple reason that transportation costs tend to remain higher than production costs.

The inevitable trend toward the decentralization of industry springs from that, and with the more complete electrification of the various countries the amount of production of goods and products will become such a less important factor in its cost that differences in wage scales will have less reflection in the price of the finished product.

This will inevitably reduce the transportation costs and encourage their manufacture near the point of consumption. Long distance trade will more and more come to consist of articles of concentrated value able to pay high freight rates.

Ocean carriage is cheap, but not so cheap as the transmission of power over a wire. Labor is figured as power cost. In 1918 it cost 18 cents to move a ton of goods over the ocean transport on some routes, while at railroads it often runs well over 40 per cent of gross earnings.

But with the electrification of railroads land transport will benefit from great fuel savings, and also save the cost of thousands of men and motive fuel. Short of wireless transmission of power to ship, ocean transport can look to no such economies.

The psychology back of the literary stage for the reduction of humanity to a dead level of mediocre mongrelization is the child of a dead past. "I loathe nationalism," says H. G. Wells. Well, let him loathe.

The forces which science and economics have loosed for the further variation of humanity are forward pushing forces. The ideals of socialisers, national and international, were reached by nature many millions of years ago in the ant-

Out of the Shadows

Night time and darkness. Never the two can be separated. But electricity, alone of all illuminants, has really robbed the night of its terrors. Piercing gloom, bringing light into dark corners, it carries safety and good cheer into the sun-less hours.

From the sale of electricity for lighting purposes, alone, the Electric Power and Light industry derives a revenue sufficient to make it one of the most stable of all business enterprises. Yet this is only one of many sources of income which for many years have brought increasing safety to the holders of its securities.

WHEAT AND CORN TOUCH NEW HIGHS ON HEAVY BUYING

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Bullish sentiment predominated in the grain markets, with aggressive buying developing after a small break early which carried wheat features to a new high on the present movement with all deliveries of corn and the deferred futures of oats at a new high for the season. Profit taking made a recession toward the last, but wheat gained 1 1/2¢, with September 1.43 1/2¢, or 1/4¢ under the December. Corn gained 1 1/2¢ with September showing the most strength. The latter gained 1/4¢ on the December, and closed at 1.13 1/2¢, or 1/4¢ under the deferred future.

Oats sold at the highest prices in several months and gained 1/4¢ for the day, while rye was 10 1/2¢ higher. Winnipeg wheat was sold against purchases here, and gained only 1/4¢ for the day, while Minneapolis was 1/2¢ higher.

Damage Talk Helps Wheat.
Buying by houses with eastern and northwestern connections was a factor in making the advance in wheat. There were reports that rain and frost had done more damage than anticipated, with rust reports from this side of the international line coming from a wide area. Serious deterioration was claimed, even the supposedly rust proof durum affected. The local element was less disposed to press the selling side with a government report due after the close.

Forecast for the American northwest was for unsettled and warmer weather which would be favorable for the development of rust. No further rust occurred in the Canadian northwest, and some reports were inclined to belittle the damage from the freeze of Sunday night. European potato crop is estimated at 2,850,000 bu or only 15,000,000 bu more than the expected small yield in 1926, and is expected to result in heavier import requirements of wheat.

Trade Broadens in Corn.
Trade in corn shows indications of broadening, and with commission houses buying and aggressive bidding by local bulls prices advanced sharply. Selling against offers, and by scattered longs checked the bulge. Temperatures over the main corn belt continue too low at night for the best development of the crop, and sentiment is becoming more bullish. September showed the most strength, the slow maturing of the crop strengthening holders of the nearby delivery in their views regarding the ultimate demand for old grain. Cash basis here was steady to 1/4¢ higher with No. 2 yellow selling as much as 30¢ over September.

Thrashing returns on oats from the northwest, as well as from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, are showing disappointing yields and with prospects for a reduction in crop estimates there was a better class of buying and prices advanced quickly. Investment buying was a factor, while selling was largely by scattered longs with the northwest on the selling side of rye, but market averaged higher in sympathy with wheat.

BUTTER AND EGGS.
Butter prices continued on the upgrade on the Chicago Mercantile exchange with November selling at a new high since last January, and closing at 21 1/2¢. Demand was bullish, and there was general speculative buying on the outlook. Butter prices for the season to date are higher than for the season to date in 1926, and are expected to result in heavier import requirements of wheat.

LARD VALUES WEAKEN.
Lard was under pressure and while January was picked up freely and showed the most activity the market closed 7 1/2¢ to 10¢ lower. In Liverpool lard was unchanged with higher. Short ribs were in better demand and closed 1/2¢ to 3/4¢ higher while butchers after a 7 1/2¢ advance, closed unchanged. Lard trade in meats was better. Slaughterers in the west for the season to date are expected to result in heavier import requirements of wheat.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Import demand for wheat and other grains at the seaboard was slow with the upturn in futures prices in checking business. Chicago handlers sold 63,000 bu to the seaboard for export.

Domestic shipping sales of cash grain here were 5,000 bu wheat; 152,000 bu corn; 25,000 bu oats, and 3,000 bu barley, with 300,000 bu wheat and 100,000 bu oats sold to go to store. Charter rates made for 350,000 bu wheat to Buffalo, and 140,000 bu to Montreal, and for 100,000 bu corn and 50,000 bu oats to Montreal Bay. 20 deliveries on August contracts were 8,000 bu rye.

Demand for cash wheat here was good with the basis steady to 1/4¢ higher. No. 1 red was 1/4¢ under and hard September to be under with No. 2 red 1/4¢ under and No. 3 hard September to be under, while No. 3 grades brought 1/4¢ under the future. Bids at Kansas City and Minneapolis showed little change.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Wednesday: Wheat, 298 cars; corn, 30 cars; oats, 84 cars; rye, 8 cars; barley, 48 cars. Range of cash grain prices in leading markets follows:

Doris Urges Plenty of Constructive Fun for Leisure Hours

BY DORIS BLAKE

One is hearing more and more of the establishment of slow clubs, the country over, to offset the hazardous amusements of petting, drinking, and so on.

I believe Chicago started the movement, and I am told that in Philadelphia the club has almost thirty chapters and nearly 15,000 members. What ought to be good news for the calamity howlers who cannot view the younger fry with anything but alarm.

In the establishing of such clubs, it isn't enough to sign on dotted lines that one will not join in drinking and petting parties. A club that goes no further than this in a reform direction will have little value, I believe. Something constructive must be built for the hours of leisure that the temptation to indulge in cheap entertainment will not be accepted because of a paucity of other and better forms of amusement.

There's no need to preach against the cheap practices which girls have found out, to their own discomfort, left them only with a feeling of being "marked down" goods. Not when they are taking formative steps to revive the old respect, the old nice, wholesome companionship which makes life

Society to Forego Week-End Affairs to Dine with Lindy

BY NANCY R.

There's a consolation plenty this week-end for those of us who have to be in town during the greater part of the summer; for we'll have the smiling Lindy, whose name and fame have this year rung round the world.

Reservations have been pouring into the offices of the Chicago Association of Commerce headquarters for the dinner to be given for Col. Lindbergh Saturday evening at the Stevens, and it is heard that many a Friday-to-Monday house party in the country and many a four-course of long standing have been postponed that the attractive and heroic young flyer may be welcomed and fêted.

Although the affair has a flavor more civic than social, numerous names familiar to this column are to be found on the dinner and reception committee lists.

George W. Dixon, who is on the reception and mayor's committee for Saturday, will be host to a table of sixteen at the dinner, with his daughter, Miss Marion Dixon, as hostess. Their guests will include several members of the popular Dixon clan, among them Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walker, the Alan C. Dixons and the Thomas J. Dixons.

Others who are entertaining or being entertained that same evening are: Edward L. Ryerson Jr., Arthur C. Cullen, John Butler, James W. Yeager, Robert B. Dickinson, John R. Thompson Jr., Robert F. Carr, William C. Hollister, Robert R. Reid, H. E. Otis, and Elmer T. Stevens.

The reception committee includes: Ayres Boal, William McCormick Blair, Philip D. Armour, John S. Brooks, R. F. Atfield, Sheldon Clark, W. E. F. Davis, The President Daves, William E. Dawes, Charles Dickinson, Thomas E. Donnelly, Robert J. Dunham, Fletcher M. Durbin, R. A. Eckhart, Edward R. Fildes, Alfred C. Genger, Hugh McBirney Johnston, William V. Kelley, Edward J. Kelly, Robert P. Lamont, R. H. McCormick, Arthur Messer, John J. Mitchell, Guywood R. Runkle, Clive Runkle, Frederick H. Scott, Harold Swift, James W. Thorne, and Lawrence Whiting.

Day's News in Society

The eyes of those society women seriously inclined toward golf will be turned all next week to the annual meet of the Women's Western Golf Association to be held at Lake Geneva.

From the opening shot on Monday until the final on Saturday there will be a round of golf, including affairs at the country club, as well as luncheons and evening parties for guests at the summer residences. Miss Louise Mitchell, daughter of the John J. Mitchell, and Miss Virginia Wilson, the brilliant young golfer from Lake Forest, have been practicing for some time anticipating play through several days of the tournament.

Entered are Mrs. Henry P. Laham, Mrs. Paul M. Walker, treasurer of the association, Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell, Mrs. Henry Bartholomew, and Miss Louise Bahr.

Plans for the annual flower show of the North Shore Garden club will be announced yesterday by the president, Mrs. J. Harry Sells. The show will be held at the estate of Mrs. Charles A. Stonehill, near Sheridan road, Glenview, on Saturday, Aug. 20 from 2 until 5 o'clock, and on Sunday, Aug. 21, from 10 until 6 o'clock. All entries must be in the hands of Mrs. Stonehill, the chairman, by Aug. 18. There will be five sections of cut flowers, gladioli, dahlias, and miscellaneous cut flowers, each section having several classes.

More than a sanitary pad—a scientific protection one knows is safe. Filled with Cellulose wadding, the world's super-absorbent, it is 5 times more efficient than the ordinary cotton pad. Kotex also thoroughly DEODORIZES. Which solves another summer problem. Discards as easily as tissue. Thus no laundry.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Broiled Meat Roll.

The following little recipe is worth repeating: One-half pound of round steak, one-half pound of pork, one onion or just the juice of one onion, one teaspoon of salt, or more to taste. For basting, use one or two tablespoons of melted butter in which there is one teaspoon of powdered celery leaves.

There may be more beef and less pork for this roll. Wipe the meat, or scrape and trim, and put it through the food chopper with the onion. Make the chopped meat into a roll, flatten it somewhat, put it into a small tin, baste it with the seasoned butter and broil for twenty minutes—in fifteen minutes in a well heated and well controlled broiling oven on the top and sides ought to get a fine brown. Then turn and broil for five minutes on what was the under side. Garnish with cream and serve with mushroom sauce and fried potatoes. If the fat in the pan is ideal in quality—with good cooking it will be there should be enough to make a good gravy with a cup of meat. Strain the fat before making the gravy.

A mushroom sauce made with a base of white sauce, with real cream for half of the liquid, is excellent for such a roll. Slice the cleaned and peeled mushrooms, cook them in butter in a frying pan till the water in them starts to cook out, then add them to the sauce. They may be prepared in this way and potted—some butter over them—and kept for some days for such uses as this.

With a generous serving of potatoes, the sauce, and perhaps another vegetable, this ought to be enough for four people, but we do not wish to be arbitrary about this. Suppose you serve it to three. It is strictly for a home meal because it is the rarest thing in the world that any person earning his or her own living by cooking will take enough pains with chopped meat to make delicious things of this type. Not one weathered or dirty bit of lean or fat meat must be included for a totally undesirable seasoning.

Grosgrain Ribbon Enhances This Frock

to top a printed frock with a coat of plain crepe in harmonizing tone. But this line of conduct is often varied by reversing the process. Thus, one smart colonist at Southampton wears a three-quarter coat of black and deep rose printed crepe over a frock in plain light rose. Also the habit of making both coat and frock of the same figured material is decidedly approved.

The passion for matching accessories is waxing rather than diminishing. Thus, if one undertakes a crepe frock of a certain brilliant blue one is almost impelled to be consistent. One gets kid shoes and hat of the same tone. Yet, of course, many continue to economize by working out all the accessories in a neutral tone such as beige or gray. One thing is certain: If you are equipped with beige kid shoes and a beige hat you are ready for green, blue, and rose.

College Club Card Party.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—There is no use going against the grogram of fashion. It has been years since we started trimming with this type of ribbon and still we are inveterate grogrammers. An evidence of this fact is found in today's sports model, a charming creation of square-jersey trimmed in matching ribbon. The ribbon describes diamond motifs at the border of the jumps and is repeated on the cuffs of very unusual sleeves. It also defines the V neck line.

"I know you did, Auntie," replied the victorious warrior. "But Harry wouldn't believe it's wrong, so I'm just teachin' him that it is. An' now he knows it."
